FOREWORD

This work is the result of the cooperation and assistance of numerous members of the Fontaine/Maury Society. Without the information which they furnished this project could not have succeeded. In many cases they were the sole provider of vital material and "leads" to where additional data could be found. Their information, combined and integrated with the facts which I have been able to "gleam" from a number of record depositories, libraries, and archives, served as the "bricks" for this reconstruction. While this work contains no long list of sources and/or footnotes, documentation for any specific fact(s) will be furnished upon request. In a few cases, however, footnotes were used where the facts were in dispute.
